“ Dear Auntie Angelas,

I didn't grow up around you as much as I wish I had, but I know during my youth I saw you more often than I remember. There are still memories of you that have stayed with me.

I think about the BBQs we had as a family, everyone together just enjoying each other's presence. I also remember the time my dad and I were heading to camp KOA and randomly picked you up. I don't remember exact details, just that we had a really good time.

I always loved you. Even now, I can hear your voice in my head saying, "SNACKPACK," and it makes me smile.

You didn't get the chance to meet them, but I have two beautiful daughters, and I know you would have loved them as much as I know you loved me.

Rest peacefully, Auntie Angelas. You are loved and remembered.

With love,

SNACKPACK ❤️

“ I first came to know "Mama Murray" as I called her later in the years through her son LaRon Murray. Ms. Angelas was about her business and a straight to the point kind of woman. My fondest memory is when she named me her sous chef while visiting her along side LaRon to assist and to mostly watch her prepare her infamous sweet potato pies! Ms. Angelas' presence will surely be missed and will remain in our hearts forever. ✨👍✨

“ Angela's and I worked together at BCBSM in customer service. She could always make me laugh. And the world is a sad place because she has gone to be with the Father. Good journey.
