“ Cae was such a kind soul... we were always friends but it was just this one year Mr best class at John Glenn high school that highlighted a lot of our memories he was my science partner.. always waited for me in class we always helped each other out ... 😞 I would bring him stuffed animals after every trip I came from .. one of them being this green bug he fell so in love with lol no clue why . But he was so kind a real friend he actually cared and was so easy to talk to . I think about caelen al the time wishing things could be different wishing we could just be kids again with no worries or responsibility's . Continuing to grow and age hurts knowing we have so many beautiful soldiers watching from above .. wishing they were here we love you cae .. condolences to the family and other friends as well .

“ Caelen was such an amazing friend. One of the greatest friends. I was so blessed to have him in my life. He loved so hard and had so much loyalty. His smile held so much light and happiness. Caelen was an amazing person. I loved him so much. I'm always very grateful for my friendship with him. I'm always extremely grateful to have known him.
Thank you for bringing Caelen into this work Samika. I cherish and hold on to all of my memories, conversation and time spent with Cae <3

“ I'm probably not the only one who was at a loss for words at Caelen's Memorial Service on Saturday 12/21. I think we are all in indescribable shock and our hearts are beyond shattered. It is difficult to come up with stories to share when he should still be here making more stories, finishing out his life. I feel guilty for having life when Caelen does not. Pastor Pearl McCalling(sp?) was phenomenal and read the room delivering an amazing message on everyone's behalf about our Angel that had a very uplifting impact. Thank you for that and the Beautiful Sending Home for Caelen. What I should have stood up and said is:
Samika (Lamb), Patrick, Rodney, & Family,
There are literally no words I or anyone can say to make any of this feel better. The way Caelen was taken from this world was full of evil, hatred, negativity and very intentional. This was the COMPLETE OPPOSITE of what Caelen was about. He was full of love, trust, happiness, positivity, respect, and giving everyone the benefit of the doubt.
I want to thank you, Lamb, for raising two amazing young men and for allowing Caelen to spend time with my family...especially Jacob. Though they are close in age, he left quite an impression on him and was an outstanding friend/cousin/role model. They spent time at birthday parties and just fun weekends with us. We were truly blessed to have his presence in our home. He brought a sense of calmness and joy in the way he seemed to love life and every single thing it had to offer. He was humble, always respectful, polite, and truly grateful. And he was very kind to my girls.
I remember a day the boys were playing video games and came up from the basement for some water. I think Caelen was around 11. I happened to look out the kitchen window and mentioned there was a family of bunnies in our backyard. Immediately, Caelen and Jacob looked out the window. I went back to washing dishes or whatever I was busy with and then later heard the boys still talking. I spun around as I was expecting them to be long gone back in the hangout spot playing video games or watching TV. But instead, they were still at the window watching this family of bunnies!! I knew then, he had an honest and pure heart and was a lover of life. He and Jacob took time to appreciate God's creation. There is no friend of Jacob's who would have sat there all that time watching and observing, and appreciating animals. We were blessed to have Caelen in our lives. He has left his footprint on our hearts forever. He showed us there are still really good, kind people in this crazy world. In spending time with him, we knew he adored his Mother and Granny, and loved and looked up to his Big Brother, Patrick, and his Dad a lot!! He also spoke about all of the family - Cousin Cherie, Aunt Loretta, Mattie, Perry, Curtis and Aunt Stephanie and with a warm glow of love in his eyes. He knew he was loved and loved by one of the strongest families in the world.

We are so saddened he did not get to fulfill his dreams for his clothing line or pursuing a college education. (He shared these plans with us and even asked Aaron for some business advice.) But we realize God has a much bigger plan for him. There is also a glimmer of comfort that he is now surrounded by loved ones in Heaven and he is at peace.

I know this is going to be a very rough and rocky road for all of us and Christmas will never be the same. But please don't stay away from one another or let so much time pass before you see each other again. Hoping everyone can come together under positive circumstances JUST BECAUSE. Life is too short and can be taken from us at any time. So putting forth some effort for one another, will help us to not have to live with regrets. We can't control anyone else's actions, but we can control our own. Caelen's bright smile is shining down on us all from Heaven. He is now a Guardian Angel we can call on. In his honor...stay connected. Like Pastor said, we are not guaranteed tomorrow.

Praying for God to continue to heal our hearts...especially Samika's and Patrick's.

*With Love,
Julie (Lamb) & Family*

“ To Samika, Patrick and the rest of our family, so sorry to hear about my great nephew's passing. Would have been there had we known sooner.
He really enjoyed his time meeting his family in PA and the train rides. We shall keep you and the rest of our family in prayers.

With God's love,
Reverend Dawn Harmon (Aunt) and Uncle Saddru Din Mateen
