Celebrating The Life Charity Nicole Davis:

Charity Nicole Davis was born on March 9, 1991 in Detroit, MI at Hutzel Hospital to Brenda Ford. Ross McMillan was an active Father figure in her life. Charity graduated from the Academy of Oak Park in 2010. After graduating, Charity found herself babysitting many children and it brought her so much joy.

Charity loved children and they loved her. Charity loved watching football, listening to music, bowling, shopping, cooking, good food and joking around with her family and friends. Charity had an infectious smile. She was loyal, faithful and respectful to both her family and friends.

“ Sis I'm going to miss you so much..just when I started to question God my mom told me he takes all angels so I guess I'm okay with that. Always been there for me rather it was to say u miss and love me or just checking on me. One of few people that would call and be like "sis get dressed where you want to go today? my treat" . And somehow the fun never ended until the next morning Lol oh how I'm going to miss you...remember all the late night phone calls and pop ups?...shhhh...our secrets Lol so many memories that it wouldnt be enough time to write them all down. Most importantly I never got a chance to thank you for coming into my life when you did because I got to experience genuine friendship that felt nothing less of family. And even though it hurts knowing your in a better place free of pain gives me a piece of comfort within. I ask God to send nothing less of peace and strength to your family because you were truly one of a kind. Love u sis~Brittany

“ I'm going to miss you dear friend, we shared many memories in middle school & after high school. You helped me get through the death of my brother, you were always there no questions asked. Never in a million years did I think this would ever happen to you but I won't question Gods plan. I just want to thank you for always being there with open arms and even though you faced your own issues you stayed faithful to being you. I know heaven gained one beautiful angel with a huge heart with love. I love you & im really going to miss you a lot. Rest easy sis !
