

Mr. Conrad Jay Washington

February 10, 1957 - March 8, 2016

The Life Of Conrad Jay Washington:

Conrad J. (big Con, Crusher, etc.) Washington of Detroit, Michigan died peacefully, surrounded by his family on March 8, 2016. He was 59 years old.

Conrad was born on February 10, 1957 in Birmingham, Alabama to the union of Charlie James and Fannie Alice Washington.

He was baptized at an early age at Antioch Baptist Church in Birmingham. Later moving to Detroit, Michigan, after leaving Highland Park Community High School, he joined the U.S. Army Reserves and later the U.S. Marine Corps.

After four years of honorable service to his country, Conrad began a long and successful career with General Motors Technology Center for over 37 years, where he met his wife Jackie. They settled and enjoyed a happy home in Oak Park, Michigan.

Conrad was a loving husband, an attentive father and generous man. He was an active member of New Prospect Missionary Baptist Church, as well as, a dedicated member of UAW Local 160 and served on the election committee.

Conrad was a U.S. Veteran and Free Mason; he was also a passionate and accomplished bowler with a perfect game to his credit.
