October 29, 1946 - January 9, 2016

In Remembrance Of Our Beloved Daisy Hicks:

Daisy Richardson Hicks was born October 29, 1946 in Carrolton, Alabama to the union of Izolar and Walter Richardson (whom preceded her in death).

Daisy accepted Christ at an early age, attended Thomas chapter Presbyterian Church in Tuscaloosa, Alabama where she sang in the children's choir. Her education was received at Central Elementary and Druid High School. She graduated in 1965. Later she moved to Chicago, Illinois, found work and married Hilbert Reese. To this union a son was born, Rodney.

After leaving Chicago, Daisy moved to Detroit, Michigan. In Detroit is where she met and married Mico Hicks and found employment with the Internal Revenue Service. She worked there as a keyboard operator until her health began to fail. Daisy endured a long battle with many health difficulties but throughout the duration never gave up, stayed strong, and maintained her sassy persona. Daisy was a great cook and home maker. In her home every item had a place and remained in its place.
