“ My brother Darrin—my Man Man—my first best friend. From the moment I could remember, we did everything together. We always drew together and he had some of the most neatest handwriting, we danced together, and spent our best summers side by side. He was my protector, my biggest supporter, and the reason I walked through life with so much confidence—I always knew my big brother had my back.

From small kids to adults we laughed and we cried about life. Life is so precious—His love for music was undeniable , and so was the love he gave to those around him. I’m going to miss his laugh , the comfort of his voice and embrace, and most of all the unbreakable bond we shared.

If I had to choose a brother in every lifetime, I would choose him—again and again.I love you Man Man always in all ways, and I will miss you forever !
