In Loving Memory Of Delbert Augutus Armstrong:

Delbert Augutus Armstrong was born November 17, 1936 to the late George and Alyce Armstrong in Gary, Indiana. Delbert was the first child of eight, preceded in death by his brothers William, Dubois, Russell, Richard and Delroy, all Armstrong.

He has two sisters, Florence Williams preceded him in death and his baby sister, Alyce Till (Larry) only surviving relative.

Delbert received his education in Detroit, Michigan. Delbert worked for a number of years at Spencer Shoe Store and Ford Motor Company.

Delbert made his transition on December 9, 2015 at his home.

My Dad met Leomie Wallace and from that union he had four children, Darlene Armstrong, only son, Delbert Armstrong, Darnella Tate and Doreen Armstrong. Later on, he met Olivia and they were married. He helped raise his stepchildren. His wife, Olivia preceded him in death.

My Dad was witty, strong-willed, he loved people in the community and he was a businessman in insurance sales, whom the people loved. He was known as Strong and everyone called him Strong or Mr. Armstrong. If you were to stop by his house anytime of the day, one thing for sure, you would get a conversation. My Dad loved to talk. He liked to visit the casinos for extra curricular activities. He liked old cars, the race tracks and he loved his cigarettes Salem Lights 100's and his black coffee every morning. He loved sports, baseball, football and basketball. He was just an all around kind of guy. Also, he loved jazz and his favorite musician was Miles Davis. He loved to read his newspaper and various law books. He was a legend in his own right.
