“ Aunt Denise,

You were our rock and the person always in place. We all knew we could come home to Martindale, and you would be there to let us in. This last year was an adventure that I went on with you. Calling to hear you say, “I’m doing alright.” You never complained, you kept your peace and fought hard to stay with us.

I still remember your look and me laughing when I first claimed to be your “Child” you gave up for adoption. You kept saying you were not my mother, because you would have been too young. I knew all these years I was your favorite and could always make you bust out laughing with my antics. You showed unconditional love to your family and friends, and really were your nieces and nephews’ mother, when we called you always picked up the phone answering with “I’m okay, what’s up?”

Our trip to Alabama was so special to me, because it was just me and you traveling. When you asked to go, I was so happy that you were feeling better and wanted to go somewhere. It was my prayer answered that you were going to be even better to take another one.

You never missed a special occasion, I always knew you would be there to support and celebrate the people you loved. Every birthday, holiday, graduation, or special event you were there and will be physicaly missed.

Not sure how I will, but I will honor you and pick up where you left off! You taught me well, and now I have to stay strong and make you proud.

I will be looking for you to tell me “I’m doing alright.” I love you and miss you so much already.

Your Favorite,

Renae

“ Aunt Denise, I am at a lost for words. It is so hard to accept it even though I know that you are not suffering anymore. I will miss making you laugh and calling to hear you say “I’m doing alright!” You never complained about being sick, and handled it better than I ever could. You were the one who taught me honesty, integrity and what sacrifice looks like. You always held us all down with your peaceful way of getting things done and letting us know, you had it all figured out already. You were the glue for us nieces and nephews as you were always home to receive us when we stopped by. You offered your firmness, your unconditional love and support that made us be better. I wanted so much to keep you here so I could keep calling you “Mommy” to hear you say every-time, “You are confused and I am not your mother!” I know I was your favorite and you did not tell the others so they could not be disappointed.

Thank you for every word of advice, every present, every card, every holiday meal, every birthday song, every visit to have lunch with me, every time you came to support me and my accomplishments! Just thank you for never changing!!!!

Thank you for always believing in me, and providing the comfort that I could always count on you answering the phone and asking me “What’s Up?”

I love you dearly and miss you even more. So happy we took the trip to Alabama and I was able to harass you for 3 weeks.

Please tell everyone I said hello, and I know you will keep me more honest now that you can see everything I am doing.

Your Favorite and Only Child,

Renae
