

Mrs. Doris Jean Satterwhite

March 30, 1938 - July 9, 2025

Mrs. Doris Satterwhite, 87, born March 30, 1938 in Bristol Oklahoma to Searcy and Ethel Johnson (who preceded her in death) spent most of her child and early adulthood in Oklahoma. Being the baby of the clan she and her six siblings all graduated from Lincoln High School within the Oklahoma School District. Sometime in the early 50s Doris and a couple of her siblings moved to Detroit, MI where she landed a job at Fisherbody.

She later on met and married her Beloved husband Eurel Satterwhite in April 1965. She and him really enjoyed their tv shows. Doris was a quiet but sweet and easy going person who loved to sew, recite poetry, read poems, books and newspapers, cook and take care of her family which she took most pride in. Among Doris, "Mae Fern" and Geraldine who join her in the gates of paradise (along with her siblings) were favorites although she loved all her siblings.

Doris departs from: three children Derrick, Brian, Michelle, daughter in law Lorraine; four grandchildren Charaine, Latisha, Jalon, and Deja; two great-grandchildren Zyaire and Brielle along with her husband Eurel. During her years of sacrifice, she strived to become all she could be while working in fields such as the big 3 where she and Eurel met and spent the remainder of her life.

She retired from the automotive field moving forward to raising her three children together as a union and building her family legacy. She also leaves behind a big list of cousins like Deborah, Doretha (Milton), and host of other cousins, nieces, and nephews like James Parker to cherish in her memories.

Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted

Matthew 5:4

“ *The heavens welcomed a whisper,
Draped in light and seasoned grace,
For Doris Jean has taken flight—
A matriarch now crowned in space.*

*She walked this earth with velvet steps,
Each word a hymn, each glance a prayer,
The roots she planted deep with love
Still blossom strong, still bloom with care.*

*To her children—may her voice
Still echo softly in your chest,
Each heartbeat wrapped in memories
That time will polish, pain will rest.*

*To her grands—may you remember
Her laugh, like sunlight in July,
And know you carry royal blood
That even death can't nullify.*

*To family, friends, and kindred close,
Let not your grief be drowned in night,
For love like hers is never lost—
It only learns to change its light.*

*A bridge of feathers, stars, and song,
She's dancing now where angels tread,
But part of her is here, alive—
In every word she ever said.*

*So mourn with honor, not with fear,
And lift your eyes beyond the veil—
For Doris Jean is not gone...
She's simply set her earthly sail.*

---

*Peace and Power to the Satterwhite Family.
May her legacy be your compass,
and her spirit your eternal light.*
