“Enjoy the little things, for one day you may look back and discover they were the big things”

Our last conversation on Saturday, little thing; your nightly text message to say good night, little thing; you wearing the cap I insisted you wear just cuz I thought it was too windy and cold outside during Thanksgiving, little thing; the family game you finally caught on to during Thanksgiving!, little thing; us being wrapped up together at the movies cuz I thought it was too cold in the theater, little thing; your telling me that I am a great sister, and that you love me almost every chat of ours, little thing. Now that I'm looking back I've discovered, they all were big things...
