“ His stories always started with a hand motion and "O-kay" followed by a long and detailed recount of events. He also started saying, "Woosa" before he would stand to walk with therapy. He said that came from the movie Bad Boys. He would ask how you doing multiple times a day to make sure things were good. He also had stylish glasses and his green ones were my favorite. He always had deep thoughts and contributed to our conversation during therapy. He is greatly missed and we will always remember our friendly, kind hearted giant of a man.
