“Hearing of her passing was tough. She was the first person I entrusted my daughter's care with when she was born. She was more than the babysitter, she was family to me before she actually became family for real. I never heard her say a negative word about anyone. She was so loving and kind. Full of wisdom indefinitely insightful. As with many people's passing, you feel even worse about someone you love passing when you had not spent the time you should have spent with them. She was always in my prayers, even when I wasn't there. I hope she knew that she has always held a special place in my heart. I'm sure everyone has this testimony about this great woman of God! I will love you always Grandma Wade!
