“ I do not have may people I call friend, I can say Gwen was truly my friend. Gwen made people better by just being around her. She was almost like another mother to me - keeping me out of trouble, giving advice, and words of encouragement. I was never embarrassed or scared to being any personal problems or stories up to her as it seems like she never judged. I will miss your smile when I tell a stupid joke. I will miss your laugh when I talk about the stupid things happening at work. Had I known that the last goodbye I said to you was going to be the last, I would have said so much more - I may not have ever let you walk out the door. Gwen, you will dearly be missed...

“ To the family of Gwen Harris.
Words aren't enough to describe this lovely lady. A true woman of God. Always thinking of others no matter what she was dealing with. When Gwen came back to work after being off for so long she said her work wasn't done. That God still had work for her to do and show others how awesome God was to have pulled her through when statistically her odds were none existent . Her work is now complete. No more sorrow or pain. As humans we have a selfish love. We want our loved ones to stick around no matter the cost. God is compassionate and knows best. Even when as humans we say” But why?”

God gave his only son that we may obtain life eternal. Gwen is at rest. Memories we will have a lifetime to give us comfort in those lonely hours . Lean on the Lord. He can do anything except fail you. When your weak and feel like you can't make it through God will carry you. Stay prayerful and keep your eyes upon Jesus. He will heal your broken hearts in time. Encouragement from Gwen's postal family.
