

Mr. Horace Lee Strickland

June 14, 1932 - October 23, 2014

In Remembrance Of Our Beloved, Horace Lee Strickland:

Horace Lee Strickland was born and raised in Heard County, GA. He was born to the late Baltimore E. Strickland and Lola Rutledge on June 14, 1932 in Glenn, GA. both preceded him in death.

He went to school at Mary Johnson. He and his brothers built the home they lived in. They ran a general store and gas station. He moved to Canton, Ohio in 1952 where he met and fell in love with a young lady named Margaret Jane (Win) Strickland. They then married in 1953 and had six children to that union. Horace loved his family, he worked hard as a mechanic, he always had a passion for cars. His first job in Ohio was a mechanic at Ewing Chevy. He later got a job at Republic Steel and opened his own gas station. When he wasn't working on cars he was having fun driving them his way which was fast. He also drove the big rigs, this was just one of his professions that made him happy. Horace loved to dance and make people laugh and tell jokes. He also worked at Safran Printing. He worked there until he retired. He moved to Detroit, MI in 1971.

He had many friends who loved him. In his retirement he took up his old trade of fixing everybody's car. When he stopped that he would just watch football on weekends and take people that lived in his apartment to the store helping them out. He loved everybody. He loved going fishing and playing cards, and playing the blues. Horace will be well missed. We know he will be smiling down on us.
