“ I know you hear people make up allot of good things to say about those who have passed or try to place them in heaven if they could. Aunt Irene is one that you don't have to make up anything. If you just tell the truth on what you know about her it would be a life we all should try to emulate. I'm writing this knowing she would not want this attention nor praise, I can hear her sing "every praise is due our God". She was beautiful inside and out, a loving mother, a faithful wife, a gracious host, a defender of her faith, and a great friend. She touched my life in a very special way and I shall never forget her. I shed tears not because she's gone but because I will miss her. Till we meet again.....

“ Enve though these events are a reality for us all, it's nonetheless difficult to accept for someone so special as my Aunt Irene. My Aunt Irene had an easy smile and welcoming effect for all who came into her sphere. At family events she would always avail herself to others' comfort. She and I talked infrequently over the telephone but when we did it was always warm and comfortable, enlightening conversations about my well-being and our mutual families. I now regret that I did not prioritize our talks and communicated more often. Too Aunt Irene' children your mother was a spiritual person and had a special relationship with God and had an apparent unparalleled love for her children, grandchildren, extended family and friends. For all who knew Irene D. McCree, there was no doubt she was truly a child of God!
With eternal love,

“ In the end it's not the years in your life that count. It's the life in your years. My sister in law was a wonderful woman and will always live on in our memories. Her spirit will never be forgotten. She was one of a kind and we were all fortunate to have had her. She will be terribly missed.

We were all touched by her warmth and kindness and she will live on in our hearts. I remember how she ended many of our telephone marathons by singing Carol Burnett's TV song...."I'm so glad we had this time together."

Yes, Irene I am truly happy that we had this time. But, now you are in a far better place.

“ To the McCree family,

I've had the extreme pleasure of witnessing an angel sent here on earth by the name of Irene McCree. I used to come over and visit the McCree's across the street from my cousins house when they lived on Sorrento street. I never met such a wonderful person in my entire life. She was always so uplifting and encouraging. She would call me out of nowhere just to check on me to see how I was doing and I would do the same to her. I'm sure her children will miss her dearly. Rest now Mrs. McCree and thank you for always being such an inspiration to us all! I enjoyed every moment of your presence and will miss you dearly. To the family, thanks for sharing her with me! Love Tweet.

*Even knowing that this event is a reality for us all, it's nonetheless difficult to accept for someone so special as my Aunt Irene. My Aunt Irene had an easy smile and welcoming effect for all who came into her sphere. She and I would communicate infrequently, I certainly regret that now that it wasn't prioritized on my part. But I will cherish and always remember the warmth and caring conversations we had about my well being as well as my family.
