Sister Irma J. Williams was born on December 10, 1931 in Chicago, IL. She was the wife of the late Mr. Dunbar Williams of Little Rock, AK. She was one of four children from the union of Oscar and Anna Cotton. Her family originated from Mississippi and later moved to Chicago, IL, where she was educated and graduated from the Chicago Public School System.

After high school, Sister Williams married Marshall Miles on August 19, 1950 and started a family in Chicago; from this union they had three children. Mr. Miles preceded her in death. She later met and married Dumbar Williams on May 31, 1966. They relocated the family to Detroit, MI where they welcomed another child to the family. They remained married for 46 years, during this time they ran a successful print shop and she also worked in the clothing industry.

She loved singing and used this gift to uplift people and worship the Lord as a member of the church's singing ministry. Sister Williams was also a member of the Usher Board where she served diligently. In her leisure time she enjoyed cooking and spending time with her family whom she loved very dearly.

Sister Williams loved to hold family gatherings where she would showcase her cooking skills. Every Christmas her grandchildren would look forward to the homemade sweet potato pies that she would make for each one them. Sister

Williams was loving, kind and had a beautiful spirit she will be greatly missed.
