“ To My Dear Friend Kecia and the Jordan-Ingram Family,

When you cry, let them be tears of great joy because your beloved Mike Mike is just fine. He's made it home! He's now resting in the shelter of Jesus' hands. God has set him free from this ole mean, cruel, sinful world. Your grandmother, father, mother, and Earl have already welcomed him to his Heavenly Home. And oh how sweet it is!!! At Mike Mike's eternal dwelling, the streets are paved in gold, there's no sickness, sadness, or sorrow and Mike-Mike will never hurt again. If Mike Mike could come back, I know that he would not want to. However, I know it's hard for the family to let him go. But he had to answer when God called his name. The fact of the matter is- this was never his eternal home, to begin with. He was simply passing through. I know the family was worried sick about him a few years ago after the incident but God has always had his hands of protection surrounding him. I truly believe Mike Mike would ask that you not have any thoughts of what you could have, should have, or would have done differently. I believe his last words would have been "thank you for loving me unconditionally!" I'm confident, he loved each of you even more. Keep on trusting and depending on the Lord. He's able to mend your broken hearts. Saying goodbye is not the end. It just means you'll miss Mike Mike until you meet again. Meanwhile, Mike Mike's spirit will always be with you forever in your hearts.

My condolences, Jennifer

“ There are no words to express the sorrow in our hearts. Please except our deepest sympathy. How comforting it is to know that the God of comfort will eliminate all grief and provide permanent consolation when all those in the memorial tomb will come out. Thoughts of peace.
