“ Aunt Jiji (as I fondly called you), I was heartbroken when I got the news of your passing. I am having a hard time dealing with it. If I feel this way I can't begin to imagine how Uncle David feels.

I join your family and friends to celebrate your life. I experienced your love and generosity from the first time we met. You gave me gifts every time we met without wanting anything in return. You were the most selfless person I have ever known.

At my baby shower you made sure everyone had fun and gave away many keepsakes. Also, I was privileged to have you witness the birth of our son.

At the reception of his Baptism you did what you know how to do best, take charge. Your passion for decorating was evident in what you did in the church hall.

We looked forward to you seeing “Baby J” grow up and him meeting his Special Aunt J. Nevertheless, we believe you will be watching over him up in heaven with the angels.

Sleep on, Aunt Jiji... You are in a better place

You were a rare gem...

“ Dear Aunt Jeanette,

Grief can be so hard but the special memory of the love and affection that you showered on my family during the birth of our son is helping us to cope with this loss. My thoughts are with your family and till we meet to part no more, I asked that you rest in the Lord's bosom. May God grant those you left behind the fortitude to bear this irreparable loss.
