

Mr. Jerome Jason Cisero

October 25, 1973 - August 6, 2015

My Story:

I Jerome Cisero, was born on October 25, 1973, to Lillie and Luzell Cisero in Detroit, MI. I was educated in Detroit Public Schools. As a child I was an outgoing person and was friends with everyone. I was a cheerful, lovable person and love making my family and friends laugh. My favorite thing was going by my family and friends' houses early in morning with my favorite drink and playing my jazz music, tell them to wake up the sun is shining.

In October 2001, My life was changed. I was hit by a car that almost took my life. I attended meetings at the kingdom hall with my mother, even though I stop attending Jehovah God was a part of my life especially so at the end because my mother would share many bible messages with me. I was paralyzed and in a wheelchair. Even though I wasn't able to move around like I use to. I was loved even more and while being taken care of. My family and friends would come to see me and bring me jazz music. I went to jazz concerts; they knew that was my favorite music. I was still able to enjoy life, the family dinners we had on Sundays, the outings I shared with family, friends my aides and the love and care from my doctors. (Dr. Cahill and Dr. Doble) Thanks.

I might be gone but not forgotten
