Home Going Celebration For Johnny Wesley Williams

Johnny Wesley Williams was born on February 21, 1941 in Clanton, Alabama to the late Marvin Williams and Rosie Lee Williams. He was the third oldest of thirteen siblings, three preceded him in death; two brothers, Harry, James and sister, Kathy Williams.

Johnny received his education at Chilton County Training School. In 1965, Johnny relocated to Detroit, Michigan, where he found employment at Olds Plating Company and he worked there for ten years. Johnny also worked as a supervisor for Kmart Company for 23 years, where he retired.

In 1968, Johnny married Linda Caver, his childhood sweetheart. From that union, five children were born, Janice, Maurice, Damon, Joletta, Anthony and one stepson that he raised Godfrey, who preceded him in death.

Johnny was a very active man. After retiring, he found joy in going fishing. He was a sports fanatic. He enjoyed gardening and was a very good cook. He loved family gatherings. He wasn't much of a talker but his presence spoke volumes.

On August 26, 2016, Johnny fell to an illness that caused him to put up a relentless fight for three months. His saying was "I'm a strong old boat," but that strong old boat ceased to ride the waves of life. On November 28, 2016, the Lord called Johnny home to receive his wings
