“ It is with my deepest sympathy that I extend my condolences. Times like these remind me that we don't know the plans of the creator but I know that every life no matter how short lived is with purpose. My prayers are for you and your family to rest in the comfort of knowing that life does not end.....So many of us want to extend love and support and just are at a loss for words. I just don't know how to be when I just don't understand. Prayers for peace that passes all understanding and comfort. Blessings to each of you going through this journey. XOXO

“ The little Angel has received her wings and while we here are sad, the Heavens sing. For they know that you're safe and surrounded by protective love, watching over your family from the heavens above. Little Kamryn to make sure Mommy Layla knows you're alright, and to help her through her darkest nights, ask God to place you near the brightest star so she'll always know where you are.
