In Loving Memory Of Katie Bell Stewart:

Gayle Stewart was born on February 24, 1962, in Detroit, Michigan, to the union of Alva B. Roberts and Ines L. Roberts.

Gayle and her four brothers and one sister were raised by loving grandparents Coy and Susie Dandridge (preceded in death).

Gayle attended Murray-Wright, earning a high school diploma. It is at Murray-Wright High School where she met her soul mate Percy Stewart.

February 29, 1984, Gayle was united in holy matrimony to Percy L. Stewart, and together they raised seven children. As a mother she was loving, a good listener, fair and a lot of fun. During their marriage, Gayle learns it was more important to live life her way and to be content with her choices and in doing so, they were good for each other. Together they filled their home with love, laughter, and life.

Gayle loved word puzzle books and writing in her journal/tablet to pass the time away. She was a good cook, and when frying chicken everyone wanted some. It was her best recipe. She also enjoys watching movies and listening to music, family cookouts/BBQ, she also had a love for plants/flowers and kitchen gadgets.

Gayle departed this life on August 2, 2017.
