Celebrating The Life Of Lawrence Edward Boddy- "Eddie":

Lawrence Edward "Eddie" Boddy was born July 24, 1950 in Charleston, West Virginia to Larnie and Inez Waller Boddy. Eddie grew up in a large and rambunctious family of nine children.

Eddie accepted Christ at an early age and was baptized at the First Baptist Church of Vandalia in Charleston, West Virginia where he received his Christian education. He attended and graduated from South Charleston High School where he actively participated in many sports.

As a young man Eddie decided to move to Detroit, Michigan and began a career working for the Chrysler Corporation. He remained there until his retirement in August of 2002. He made many lifelong friends while working there.

Eddie was gifted in life with two loving sons, Lawrence "Lo-Lo", and Thomas "Tom-Tom" whom cared for him these last years. His sons were the joy of his life and never failed to bring a smile to his face.

Eddie loved blues music (even though he could play and sing). He had a love for fishing and dogs; nevertheless, his favorite pastime was talking. He had a way of lighting up a room when he entered with laughter and would always leave you laughing long after he was gone. His choice of words were colorful but his message was always clear, whether he was embellishing a childhood memory or expounding about current events.

Eddie departed this life on February 20, 2016 peacefully at home.
