“ You were the king of fashion.... Your style was original and like no other. When i think about your laugh it makes me smile because you could light up a room. I remember all of our conversations we could talk about anything and we would laugh about old times. We both love cars and would always talk about them. I could never say goodbye to someone i love so much so i am going to say i will see you later. Please hug my brother and tell him i love him.
