“ Dearest Lisa,

My heart is broken in two. Words alone cannot tell of the influence you have had on my life over the past 28 years. Your fearless, can-do attitude and faith in God that he will always provide a way. I will miss your honest opinions even if I did not always agree or want to hear it all the time. I miss knowing that we could always talk about anything and would help each other through thick and thin, no matter what. I will miss the trips to Belle Isle to sit by the water enjoy whatever fast food we picked up for a picnic. Or to sit by the fountain or walk in the nature center gardens to look at the African Violets, The Banana Trees and many other tropical plants. I will miss all of the shopping trips to your favorite stores where everyone knew and loved one. I will miss the surprise of seeing what color combination of outfit you will have on that day. I will miss the love that you had for music; Aretha Franklin Whitney Houston, Anita Baker to name a few. You would play the music so loud I could hear it down the block and would call you to ask you to turn it down. But most of all, I will miss just hanging out on the porch of your house that you loved so much. Looking at the blue sky and watching the cardinals and the blue jays, which God created. You were always in such awe that they were so pretty and sang so beautiful. I will miss hours of just sitting and talking with you, family, friends and neighbors. I hope that I can carry on that with the new owner (Muggy). I would give anything to have my phone ring and have you on the other end. I will miss you my best friend forever in my heart.

I love you baby,

-Paul
