August 11, 1950 - October 26, 2017

Celebrating The Life Of Mason Myree, Jr.:

Mason Myree, Jr. was born to TexAnna and Mason Myree on August 11, 1950 in Selma, Alabama. Mason accepted Christ and joined Ebenezer Baptist Church and was baptized in 1963. He attended the Selma public schools and graduated from R. B. Hudson High School in 1968. Mason loved his life in Selma. He had many close friends and was an avid roller skater. Mason's closest friends from Selma remained friends until death.

Mason was a foot soldier in the Civil Rights Movement. He marched in the Historic Selma to Montgomery March as a high school student and was on the Edmond Pettus Bridge on the historic "Bloody Sunday". Mason fought for civil rights as a teenager and was even arrested for trying to get African Americans the right to vote.

Mason left Selma after his high school graduation and relocated to Detroit. He was immediately employed by General Motors where he worked for over 49 years. Mason worked various positions and retired from GM in 2009 to enjoy life with his family.

Mason was joined in holy matrimony with Dorice Dowdell for 45 years. To this union, two children were born, Dwanna Myree and Michael Myree. In later years, Mason and Dorice adopted another son, Clifton Myree.

Mason enjoyed watching football and old western movies. He was also a proud history buff. Most of all, he enjoyed spending time with his family and friends. Mason traveled back to Selma and many other states through the years to visit his family and friends. There was never a favor too big for a family member or friend to ask of Mason.

Mason Myree, Jr. departed this life on Thursday, October 26, 2017.
