“ Bernard was truly a wonderful young man with a bright future. I attended his fathers church for five years. He was blessed with lots of love from his parents, family and friends. My heart hurts because I wont be able to see his beautiful smile at church again. I really miss him. My deepest sympathy goes out to everyone who loves him especially his family.##imported-begin##Latisha Washington##imported-end##

“ it was weird how me and bernard met.bernard was respectful,polite and very kind hearted.i remember when he would call me and ask how my day was and was everything going well.and when he would sneak his mothers black focus and ride all the way to southfield late at night just to listen to my promblems and give me advice.than he would give me a big hug,kiss me on my forehead and tell me everything would be ok,he always told me dont worry about what others thought of me as me being so young and the thing i was going through he was like the father i prayed for.we argued a few times but in the end i knew i could go to him for advice.he he use to tell me to stay in school and beleieve in god and i would be ok.and he would always say dont have kid until you graduate high school and at one point i strongly thought i was expecting a baby i called and told him before i told anyone and he said "im too young" than i hung up..he called me back 15 minutes later and said "im not going to be selfish and he ask what do you think is best for you"and as me being young i said bernard i dont know whats brst for me im young and i need to finish school..than he said "karissa ill call you back when im done practicing at the church and we will talk later.....and mean while all this stuff is going on he think im a little older than what i really am.than weeks had pasted and he found out my real age and was very angry but he said he wasnt mad that i was young he said he was mad because i lied..than he didnt call me for a few days and i was living with my sister and we was going through alot of stuff so i came to back to virginia and not even 2 weeks later i founded out bernard had died.the emotion i felt was hurt.i will always remember him. karissa###imported-begin###karissa bradley###imported-end###

“Wow. It seems like I just saw you Bernard and you were telling another one of your jokes that always kept everybody laughing. I will always remember you singing on the back of the bus back in 2002 on our way to various Spartan Legion performances. I will always love you rookie brother and Im sad, but in my heart I know you are in a better place.##imported-begin##Shameka Alexander##imported-end##

“ My daughter and I will both miss Bernard dearly. He always brought a ray of sunshine, a big smile and a hug the minute he walked through the door of our home. We will hold fond memories of Bernard in our hearts, always, for he has a special place there. And to the family, Lauren and I extend our condolences and the peace of God to each of you. Remember Psalms 30:5 in your time of sorrow; "Weeping may remain for a night, but rejoicing cometh in the morning."##imported-begin##Lauren & Charita Johnson (mom)##imported-end##

“ I remember a time when we fought each other on the church bus after a rehearsal. Right after the fight you were dropped off at home and you asked my mother could I spend the night at your house. That's how it was growing up with you we would fight and in the next five minutes everything would be alright. You were a cool young man to be around. You were very smart, funny, compassionate and a true friend. I only have memories of you embedded in my mind and as long as I live you will still be alive in my heart. I miss you "B-NUTTY".

“ I not only lost a friend, but I lost a part of my life. Bernard you were scheduled in my life, it was never a surprise for me to see you calling me 30 mins before I got off work just so you could tell me you and Ron were going to meet me at my house (Sometimes you would get there before I would). We go back to 10th grade in Ms. Blake class. Between you, Marcus and I competing for classmate laughs I dont see how we passed. Approx three months ago we were reunited and we knew we missed so much time, I guess thats why we were "kickin it" everyday for hours and hours at a time. I know its a reason why this happened, I am just left here to figure it out.

Until we meet again
