“ P.S.

Lano(is what i called you) the last time we spoke which was on sunday I just wanted you to know I wish I would have not have been so stubborn when you called me. I wish we could have really talked. Now im going to do everything that you wanted me to do regarding my modeling agency(making it a brand name) like you would say. I will cherish those flights from atlanta to detriot most of all your memories nobody can take that away. I REMEBER YOU LIVING NOT DYING. I can go on and on but this message could only be so long.NANA has been trying to help me cope. She still cherishes the memory of us eating at Houston's here in Atlanta. She said Nice Meeting you Lano You said "What? Im not going anywhere...you will see more of me". Lord only knows how hard it is for me. I never knew life without you would be so tough. I send my condolences to your father and your step mother(og) is what you called her I just called her mom.And your entire family because if im this hurt I can just imagine how they feel. But guess what? I rather to have known you then not to have known you at all. I rather have loved than not loved at all.So continue to watch over me and protect me. I love you rest in peace.##imported-begin##Dymond Williams##imported-end##

“ I am praying for OUR family. Delano was a little brother to me and I remember when we didn't get along as kids but we all grew up and the love that was hidden still managed to come out.. Delano didn't want us to think he was a softie but my sister(Angela) and I knew that we had to look out for our little brothers and treat them right even though we weren't blood. I will miss you little brother. REST IN PEACE##imported-begin##Cynthia Jones##imported-end##
