“ Floyd was one of our Dad's very best friends, and we are so sorry for his passing. But on the other hand, we are overjoyed that he continued to be a part of our family's life even after Daddy died in '98. We could always count on him to come whenever we needed him, and to share in our celebrations.

Floyd had the most wonderful sense of humor. He was an intellectual giant, a man of great compassion, and very pragmatic. He set a great example for all of us on how to approach death - fearlessly and with more concern for those he leaves behind than for himself.

We will miss him so much, but we are happy to have fond memories. And NOBODY could do "died, fried and laid to the side" like Floyd Wallace! We love you, Floyd.

Our prayers are with his children especially - we know how hard it is. But you know that Floyd's loving spirit lives on & on & on. If we can help in any way, please let us know.
