Every young man that had questions or concerns of how to be successful as a (black man in society) in middle school and beyond only had to turn and ask Mr. Holiday what was the next step! “ Pop Holiday was a true patriarch of the family. He always made you feel welcome in his home and presence. I thank God for him. He loved showering his wife with gift and making her the apple of his eye. Best of all he knew the Lord. Rest in peace, Pop Holiday. You fought a good fight. The strength of the Lord was with you.
Love Vanessa

I appreciated everything he did for me, he was always excited to see me and that always put a smile on my face. I enjoyed his company, he always told his stories and jokes that made everyone in the room laugh. I will really miss him.

Love Danielle

I thank you for everything that you did for me and my family. Whenever we came to see you we always had a good time. You knew how to make someone laugh and I thank you for that. You even gave me some advice on football and I really appreciated that.
Love Joey

I feel sad that Pop Holiday is gone. I'll miss him. Grandma we are praying for you and the family.

You took the place of a father when my father was'nt around, you did things you did'nt have to do. As a child we took things for granted thinking thats what uncles do not realizing the sacrafices you made for us unselfishly.

“ In life you meet people who you can take good or bad lessons from the relationship. Our relationship was truly good. You taught me two very important life lessons. The importance of having a strong family, and most importantly respect! The fact that you can only command respect if you first give respect. The fact that the way your family conducts itself in a respectful manner is only a reflection of how you lead as a man. You exemplified that everyday the way you lead this family through good and difficult times. Also the respect you commanded from outsiders looking in... Your knowledge and wisdom will be missed but never forgotten. Most importantly we will continue to command respect through our strength, knowledge, and understanding.

“ Uncle George

Thanks for being there, we could always depend on you. I still remember how you would drive half way across the state to take us to visit our dad and how we could always expect a cool x-mas gift (smile). And the whole family knew; whether a loan or a healthy dose of no nonsense advice you were there for us.

And of course , on your birthday we could always depend on you to wear your WOLF MASK and jump out and scare us... thanks for the thrills and the laughs (when you would scare the OTHER people), you will be missed, with much love , your nephew,

“ To my Darling Husband, my soul mate, my king - There aren't to many like you around anymore. You were always happy and wanted me to be happy too with whatever endeavor I chose or selection I made. You always told me to "get what you want, you only live once." Although you were a quiet and soft-spoken gentleman, you were an extremely strong and resilient warrior who, even though faced with an insurmountable share of medical challenges, fought a good fight and finished his course with honor. Know this one thing sweetheart, you are very much loved and will always be cherished upon my heart and in my mind. I will miss your sweet companionship, your tender ways, your generosity, and your impeccable, immaculate style! Until we meet again, tell Jesus thanks for sending you into my life. I'm so sorry. I had been trying to reach you, but at your old number for some time. I was at the point of visiting your church to see you and didn't know if you still lived in Southfield. I wanted to see how you and George were doing. He has been such a fighter for so long. You have been a wonderful wife to him and the two of you seemed truly happy together.
