“ Since the death of my parents, James and Margaret Ethridge, living across the street, have been like my extended family. James helped me many times when I would lock myself out of my car or house. Or, when I just needed someone hear me vent. I enjoyed seeing him working in the front yard under orders from Margaret. Or, watching him work on those cars.

I will miss the smile he had when the front yard looked the best on the block during the spring and summer or when the last shove of snow was thrown that completed a path from his drive-way to mine in the winter.

I will miss James Thomas Ethridge as I know his family will as well.
