“ To the Winters: First and foremost I want to give God the Glory for making us a family. Deb, I really enjoyed our conversation last night. KoKo, you have been a rock for me. Someone to talk to during this hard time in my life. Someone who knew my brother almost as well as me. The strongest emotion a person can have is love and I felt that from the Winter's family. Two of my brothers have went to their mansions. However, it is nice to know that I still have a few brothers left.

The Winters will always be a part of my family.

God Bless you

“ My mom had five sons and three daughters. She had three sons first, and she wanted a daughter. I was her first daughter. I had three big brothers. Charles, Perry, and Steve. We had a lot of ups and downs, however, I could always depend on my brothers. We all had different personalities, but we were a family. I have three brothers now and we are going to live like Perry would want us too. He wants us to enjoy our lives because, he enjoy his regardless of the consequences. We are going to miss him, however, he will always be in our hearts. I loved him so much. He was a fun person. He loved to get sharp and ballroom. I think he was the ballroom king. Perry was a christian he truly believe in our Savior Jesus Christ. So, I will not greive, just miss him. He is in God's hand. We are not meant to stay on this earth and the Lord called him. Perry has three sons that he love more than he loved hisself. I say to them be strong, like your father was.

Perry I will see you when the Lord calls on me for my mansion.

When I think of all the good times, I call your big brother Ronald Slay, we talk about so many avenues in your life, he has been a great comfort to me through the Lord calling on you. Ronald, I love you too! I thank you for being here for me.

I love you. There is no stronger emotion than love and I truly love you! I know you are safe because God loves you too.##imported-begin##Yolanda Mannings##imported-end##
