“ To the Family,

It was a blessing to know Koolaid. He touched peoples lives like no other. I knew him only a few years but grew to love him and it was a pleasure having him in my life. The lord brought his son home sooner then we hoped but left us his lasting love through his spirit. You will be truly missed "Laid".

Your friend in this life and the next

“ We, Tim's family, just wanted to echo what Tim posted earlier. We were all touched by Nard's presence and thank God for allowing us to experience Nard. We will miss him here but we are equally happy that Nard has returned home. May God shine his blessings and mercy on all those who heard about and knew Nard.

“ First and foremost I would like to state that I am Tim from the same neighborhood that Renard (Nard, D.A.N., Koo-LAID, Raided-R) Burney Jr. resided in most of his life here on earth. I have just found out about Nard leaving us here while being out of town and I wish the family and all of Nard's friends the best in our time of loss but also in the time of God's gain.

Nard is not a friend to me but quite simply he is family. Often Nard and I would, as I am sure so many others would, refer to each other as cousin. That is close to what we are to each other but I could easily say that perhaps we should have called each other brother. Nard represents so much to not just me but to all of us. Nard represents laughter, (all of those cap sessions, flow(rap) sessions, and female (this the censored version) sessions. Nard also represents unity. So many different type of people could communicate and feel welcome with Nard. People who probably would have never met or wanted to meet would feel comfortable with Nard in the room. Most importantly, Nard represents hope. I, once again like so many others, come from a neighborhood that has seen tough times and tragedy. In the mist of that tragedy, Nard was the main, sometimes only one, that would pull out the positive and encourage us to look at the positive rather than the negative. It is hoped that those who was not fortunate enough to experience being around Nard who realize what positive, humorous, and effective experience that they missed. It is also hoped that those who were and are fortunate enough to have experienced Nard would reflect about the lessons that we all can gather with our experiences with Nard and pass the lessons on to someone else that may benefit. Finally, it is important to realize that in this response I did not view Nard in the past tense because Nard IS NOT IN THE PAST TENSE!!! God does not place people such as Nard to be forgotten and I will not forget. Nard is with me and is probably with anyone else who knew him or knew of him. God, I thank you for allowing us to experience Nard. Nard, I thank you for listening to God to be the person that you are and will be.

I, and the rest of us, love you God and I, and the rest of us, love you Nard.

God be with you!!!
