“ Brenda Dye was a talented hard working woman. She would cook food in a way that you would never forget. I remember her baking and decorating cakes almost every week of my life. It was a way for her to make some extra money. She would take the top off the cake that was cut to level it, and feed it to the birds. There would be hundred of birds eating her cake in our backyard all the time. Her personality was shy and quiet. She was very devout in her faith and her family was her life. I know she always had a desire to travel and do more in life. I believe her responsibility for raising her children while Her husband traveled for work, as well as managing a sickness prevented her from enjoying a lot of what she wanted to do. As her son, I regret not having many memories of family vacation. I will always remember the moments we shared in the kitchen and the safe home she provided for her children.
