“ My heart and my love are with you all. Miss Nellie, Granda, is a beautiful woman. I know this because she has a chapter in my story of family and togetherness that I was blessed to experience during the time I lived in Detroit. She was as much a granny to my babies as she is to those of her own flesh and blood. I know the earthly woman she was, so I know her physical presence is missed. However, I always take heart in the knowledge that we are all multidimensional. We are all spirits living in physical bodies, containing souls. This is our present experience; this is our area of familiarity. However, our bodies are temporal, and the spirit and soul, the aspects of us that that we cannot see, are most like God. It is that God form that continues in eternity. So what happened is that Granda simply transitioned. She is all-right. I know because you cannot physically see her it hurts, but the reality is... Granda is all right. So I pray that in time your sorrow subsides and you can rest in the joy of knowing Granda is all-right. Be blessed family. My prayers and my love are continually with you.##imported-begin##Jean Singleton-Stewart##imported-end##

“ Shonta and family-My thoughts and prayers are with you. Seek comfort from our Lord and Savior. Rejoice in the fact that Mrs. Parham has received her eternal reward and is dwelling in our Father's house and feeling no pain. One day you will be lucky enough to join her on the other side. Until that day comes, think of all the beautiful memories you shared with her. Continue to make her proud.##imported-begin##Sharmyn Sutton##imported-end##

“ In time like these it seems that things are unbearable but from experience I have learned to take one minute at a time. Just ask God for one minute and minutes can turn into hours. You will be surprised at the strength he can give you in just one minute. Remember you are always in our Prayers and things will get better.
