“ Rosie worked for my mom and dad for years and also for my grandmother and grandad. Rosie raised me and was there for me from the time I was a baby until I was well into my teens. I was probably closer to Rosie than I was with my own mom. Ten years ago I was able to see Rosie for the first time in a long long time and my wife, Sheila and I had just had our son, Chad. Rosie got to see Chad. It was a very heartfelt moment for me. I wish that Rosie could have seen Brittney, 4, and Alyssa, nine months. I hope that Rosie is proud of me. "I love you, Rosie". You were my hero, my best friend. Oh how she used to make me laugh, and cry, with the slap of a hand. I was a rotten egg. Lawdy Mercy, what Rosie went through, raising me. Please, Fay, email me if you can, if there is any way. David McGowen, TheGORILLA@charter.net###imported-begin###David McGowen###imported-end###
