“ Cathy and Family,

There is nothing so dear, or so sweet than the vivid memory of a loved one. How wonderful it is that God has given us the capacity to remember their touch, their scent, their smile, their laughter and their grace. Please know that time is your friend -- as it passes, the hurt softens and the memories deepen.

Remember to take care of yourself. It is the most important thing you can do.

Love,

“ AI,

I was sorry to hear of your dad's passing. I know this is a difficult time for you and your family. Fortunately, you do have a close family. I'll be thinking of you and have you and your dad in my prayers. Incidentally, I was struck by the family resemblance between you and your dad when I saw his picture.

All the best,

We wish we could be there to give my condolences in person, but it is now very hard for us to get to Michigan now that our family is separated with Joe in Connecticut. We are sorry to hear about your father.

With our prayers
