“ I remember seeing Pat's picture at my Grandma Vennie's house over 40 something years ago and before I actually met her in person. I finally met her once a few years later, but I would always hear about her through her siblings and my uncle D. Then I met her daughter Cherrie when she was about 10 and she had a beautiful personality. I finally got to talk and visit with Pat and Jeannie on a trip to Detroit between 5 and 7 years ago when I brought mom to see Uncle D. She came over to visit and boy did we talk awhile. We covered family, day to day life, our illnesses, work historied, food likes and dislikes, hobbies, our love of Jewelry and how she was making it, love and romance, our faith, and more. Pat and Jeannie helped Uncle D fix Sunday Dinner for us. We kept in touch by phone every since then. It just nice to know you have a cousin you can call and talk about everything to. I will miss her.
