

Mr. Paul Douglas Clements

October 14, 1945 - March 19, 2013

Paul D. Clements, Reflections of my life.

I was born Paul Douglas Clements on October 14, 1945 in Detroit, Michigan to the late John and Bernice Clements.

I was educated in the Detroit Public Schools system, where I attended Northeastern High School. While there I met a young woman by the name of Senoil Daniel, whom I later married. From our union two beautiful sons were nurtured Bryan and Darryl. In 1967, I obtained employment at Ford Motor Company and for thirty long years that's where I remained. I didn't enjoy it very much there, hell you could say I actually hated it. But in those days you did what you had to do to provide. I loved sports especially the Detroit Lions. My son, Bryan and I would spend countless hours arguing over the Lions' abilities or lack thereof. Most of the time he would be right, but it didn't matter as long as we were spending time together I could take being wrong.

I have never been a very religious man but I would consider myself to have been a spiritual one. I would spend hours upon hours listening to gospel tapes, praying and meditating. I know that the Lord loves me because he gave me things that I couldn't give myself. Peace, when I lost my mother. The pain was so much that it hurt to my core but the Lord allowed me to find peace in her passing. My son Darryl, we had many ups and downs in our relationship. We had even gone years without speaking to each other. But the Lord re-established our relationship. Over the past couple of years we were able to find joy within one another. To share laughs, to share stories, to share love. The Lord had not only given me a new relationship with my son, he also gave me my friend.
