“ I had the pleasure of working with Shelley for many years. Initially, we sat on interview panels together where I was struck with her beautiful, rich voice. I always thought she could have been a newscaster with her perfect diction and delivery. Later, we sat across the aisle from one another in Administration, and I got to know another delightful side of her--her love of laughter. Whether she was on the phone or entertaining guests, laughter flowed out of her cubicle all of the time! She loved life and was full of funny stories about her many years of service and the people she worked with. But she was also sensible and had a good sense of work politics and what was really going on, though viewed in a lighthearted manner. She was one of those rock-solid people that hold everything together and remind us that nothing is so bad that you can't laugh at it! I will always remember Shelley very fondly!
Sincerely, Curtis Truitt
