“ Uncle Steve I love you, I'm confused why you don't want me to see you in your casket. Why am I in the hospital, why did my lungs clasp what sign are you trying to deliver to me, I love you I need you more than ever. Everytime I'm in the hospital you would call and check on me, now that phone call is gone your my biggest supporter..I love you till we meet again...

“ They say that our cousins are our first friends. That is certainly true for us. In your quite way you taught me strength, compassion, selflessness and how a man should he fall, get up, dust his self off and make things right. I love you Stevie Ware

“ My sincere condolences to the Ware family. To his wife and children and his beautiful grand baby, I express my condolences. Steven was such a beautiful kind hearted man. He was truly about family. I remember he always took pictures, showed pictures of his family. He was proud of his family and love his mother greatly. Steven gave so much of himself, he amazed me. He got married, had a family. He served in the military. He volunteer his time with the Detroit 300 to make the streets safer. I grew up knowing your family and those big beautiful smiles. We graduated from the same high school, Mackenzie. Steven, you were always the one that was easier to talk to. I will miss you sending me Candy Crush lives. I will miss the pictures of the cars and the other things you love and enjoyed sharing but mostly, the loving family man who wanted to know the Lord and draw closer to him. You have touch so many lives Steven. I as others will miss you dearly.
