“ You was my skipping school buddy cousin lol and as many times as we lost touch with one another we would always find our way back in touch. I just wish we would have had more time to create more memories. Love you now get your rest

“ I only known Travis less than 5 years and I'm so bless that God made our paths crossed. A man full of energy, compassionate, an incessant talker, is how I would describe him. When his grandmother, Tiny passed it left a big hole in his heart and soul. I was honored when he asked me to be his surrogate grandmother. We both knew I could never be the grandmother who was always there & believed in him & loved him dearly. And when Tiny spoke of Travis you would think Travis would do no wrong. Travis, thank you for the meals you cooked, the adventurous stories you told, for making me laugh when I felt like crying, and thank you for being a friend whenever I needed one. Love you forever Travis. Rest in peace you are with the Lord now, as well as Tiny.
